

HERALD CAMERA-MEN TELL THEIR STORY

Girl Physic Faces Graft Trial

Charged with being a fortune teller, Eugene Dennis (above), girl psychic, must appear in court, New York, on complaint of Mrs. Mary A. Foley, who says she paid Eugene $25 to be told son was in California, when he showed up from Canada the next day.

All in a Day's Work

(By Pacific & Atlantic)
Walking on narrow beams and working high above pavement where slightest slip would spell instant death, these workmen thrilled crowd in New York recently. They're dismantling gas plant.

Beauty Tells of Attack in Stateroom

Sobbing until she was forced to stop testifying, Mrs. Clyde Byfield (above), declared in Atlanta, Ga., court that she had been attacked by Walter Candler, whom she is suing for $100,000, while on sea trip with husband as Candler's guests. Candler is son of Asa G. Candler, of Coca Cola fame.

A Hero in Vain

(By Pacific & Atlantic)
Risking life in the East River, New York, to save longshoreman, Policeman Frank G. Wilson (center), clung to him until hauled out, but man was dead. Above, Wilson congratulated by Lieut. Anderson (left) and Policeman Truitt at Old Slip station.

Sparkling Loot

(By Pacific & Atlantic)
Spread out on Custom House table in New York, and hidden in envelopes to the left were gems valued at $150,000 seized as loot from a reputed band of international smugglers. Five men have been indicted.

The Two Extremes!

Cheery!

(By Pacific & Atlantic)
Just after recovering from an operation this latest photo shows Mahatma Gandhi, native radical of India, apparently, in excellent spirits.

Destroyers Slip in From the Sea

The U. S. destroyers Fox and Litchfield were joined at Brooklyn Navy Yard, N. Y., by the Barry and Brooks (left to right) and the New York for repairs after duty in southern waters. In the back ground is the huge West Virginia.

Pals, Too!

(By Pacific & Atlantic)
When Albert Morgan, eighty, Civil War veteran and oldest member of Grand Street Boys' Society, New York, was ill, Sarah Felene, telephone operator, nursed him back to health. Her reward came recently when he adopted her. She lights his pipe.

A Rather Risky Stunt

(By Pacific & Atlantic)
Taking a human hurdle means nothing to this army horse nor does it mean much to the hurdle—if the horse makes it. This particular stunt was performed at Camp Benning, Ga., and comes under the head of a good trick, if you do it.

Joy and Gloom on Deck

(By Pacific & Atlantic)
While Bill Martin doled up before enjoying shore leave from fleet in North River, New York, Paul Lancaster (left) looked glum, for he had to remain on duty and miss fun.

(Copyright: 1924: Pacific & Atlantic Photos, Inc.)